

LET ME INTRODUCE MYSELF,

I've had a lifelong passion for innovation, automatization, technology, digital media and advertising. From a young age, I immersed myself in web development, design, content creation and marketing.

Working as a Product Owner I polished my skills in overseeing digital infrastructure, developing product lines, and appraising new ideas for market viability, all while working closely with diverse teams of software developers, marketing managers, graphic designers, sales teams and finance experts.

I had the opportunity to work for clients from small family businesses to Fortune 500 companies, in many different fields throughout my career. These various experiences have strengthened my dedication to the dynamic landscape of the digital world.

Having worked with companies and for clients from Dallas through Berlin to Hong Kong, and moving from Hungary to Belgium has granted me an international perspective, which I leverage in all my roles and work, bringing a diverse skill set to different projects while adapting to various cultures and markets.

Looking forward to meeting you in the near future!

Sincerely,
